

Named Binding

Properties not specifically required by or understood by the binding and in platformed extensions will be silently ignored if not in the envelope.

Note: particular bindings can provide for optionality in the properties that are required, and which are expressed in XML (envelope) vs other abstract properties.

Defined by Binding

